SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO, SAN MATEO COUNTY, CALIF., FRIDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1920.

NO. 50

UTILITY DIST. PLANS R. R. PURCHASE

NEW PLAN ON FOOT TO SAVE
RAILROAD TRANSPORTATION
FOR RESIDENTS OF COASTSIDE REGION.

That coastside residents of San Mateo county are much in earnest in their desire that something should be done to keep the Ocean Shore railroad in operation, was shown again this week when twenty-five prominent citizens of the county met at Princeton to discuss the serious transportation problem now facing the coastside residents. The plans suggested was for the coastside citizens to form a utility district to acquire and operate the road.

One speaker was J. B. Gordon, San Mateo attorney. Mr. Gordon advised the farmers of the coast region to raise $50,000 for a first payment on the road, and by bonding the utility district reimburse the stockholders of the defunct corporation.

Gordon was appointed a committee of one to interview the Southern Pacific officials and learn whether that company would operate the road in the event the coast district went through with the purchase.

Other speakers were Dr. C. L. Morgan of Halfmoon Bay, G. Patroni of Princeton and Manuel Francis, supervisor-elect.

G. Patroni, proprietor of the hotel at Princeton, regretted the utility district project to buy the Ocean Shore had not been proposed several weeks sooner than it was.

George E. Dunn, editor of the Coastside Comet, stated: "We all know that values of land will decrease to where it was before the railroad came, which was from $50 to $100 an acre, instead of $250 to $300 an acre, as it is now. All property holders should give liberally and keep the land values up by buying or organizing a utility district and keep the railroad. It is the one mode of transportation that will make the coastside happy and prosperous, instead of putting it back fifty years."

"If the railroad utility district is organized, the district can buy the Ocean Shore line in San Mateo county for 5 per cent of the construction cost, and if purchased and the district proves unprofitable, the junk value of rails and ties are still in the line and could be sold for nearly what the district pays for them, so you see we stand to lose very little. With proper management (which the Ocean Shore company never had for the past seven years) the line could be made to pay and pay big."

LEGION POST PLANS LADIES' AUXILIARY

Bernard McCaffery Post, No. 85, of the American Legion plans to organize a ladies' auxiliary. It is expected that such an organization will be of great assistance to the post in many ways and will be a strong movement socially in South San Francisco and the entire north end of San Mateo county. The Legion post has called a meeting at the city hall for next Wednesday evening to perfect plans for the auxiliary and to take definite steps toward its organization. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock in the assembly room. All mothers, wives, sisters, or daughters of ex-service men are eligible to membership. All women who were actively engaged in war work and can show an honorable discharge are also eligible and will be welcomed to membership. It is hoped that a large number of prospective members will attend Wednesday night's meeting.

Mrs. M. C. Ferron has had as her guest the past two weeks her sister, Mrs. D. B. Bane, formerly Miss Beulah Adams. Mrs. Bane left Tuesday for her home in Bakersfield.

A number of local fans went to San Mateo Tuesday evening to see Les Reeves, brother of Jack Reeves, in a four-round boxing match with Mike Sheller. Mr. Reeves won the decision.

TWO BAD CHECK ARTISTS OPERATE IN SO. S. F.

Donald Northrup Cashes Bad Check at Bank, While Frank Clark Secures Money From Several Stores.

Two bad check artists operated in South San Francisco last week, victimizing local business firms to the extent of $510. One chose the Bank of South San Francisco as his prey, the other worked on stores.

The first man appeared at the bank in company with Mr. Van Valen of the Western Meat Company and asked that a check for $250, drawn on the First National Bank of Los Angeles, be cashed for him. Asked by Teller O. B. Hempstead if he knew the man, who gave his name as Donald Northrup, Van Valen stated that he did and that Northrup was an employee at the Western Meat plant. Van Valen refused, however, to sign the check with the man. The check was cashed and a few days later returned from Los Angeles with the information that Mrs. B. Edsall, the name signed to the check, was unknown at that bank and that no account was carried in that name. Burns detectives were immediately placed on Northrup's trail. It was reported at the bank this morning that the man is under arrest at Bakersfield. It is believed that his right name is Edsall and that it was his mother's name he had signed to the check.

The other bad check man operated in South San Francisco Saturday night. He was armed with checks on the South San Francisco bank, supposedly pay checks from the American Barium Company, which has a plant in this city. The man gave his name as Frank Clark, and the checks were all made to him personally and were supposedly pay checks. Clark went into eight different stores around town, bought a small bill of goods, and presented in each case a check for from $20 to $30, stating that it was his week's wages. These were cashed, but on presentation at the bank Monday the holders were informed that the American Barium Company now had no account at the local bank. Nothing further has been heard of Clark. He secured $250 in hand of Clark. He secured $260 in town.

SOUTH S. F. BELT RAILROAD ALLOWED TO RAISE RATES

Authorization to increase its charges for switching has been granted the South San Francisco Belt Railway by the Railroad Commission. The company was charging $2.50 for the first car and $1 for each additional car. The new rate is $3.50 for each car. The company operates between industries in South San Francisco and the interchange tracks of the Southern Pacific. Up to May 1, 1920, the company's deficit amounted to $57,009.32. It was incorporated in 1907, and has three and one-fifth miles of road and two locomotives.

IN THE COURT OF JUDGE W. J. SMITH

Grist of Justice Ground Out in Mill of Local Court.

E. Allemand is suing Ben Mozetti for $218.95, damages alleged to have been done to property of Allemand by the stoppage of a sewer that drains Mozetti's property. Both parties to the suit live in the Visitation Valley. Mozetti conducts a dairy ranch. Dr. Smith, county health officer, testified that he inspected Allemand's premises and found the sewage backed up into his cellar. Judge Smith withheld judgment until he could inspect the premises personally.

E. C. Palmer has filed suit in the sum of $18.10 against G. B. Sweet of Visitation Valley. The amount is alleged due on debt.

T. Katsules of South San Francisco, a restaurant keeper, has filed suit against Eugene McCaffery for $23.25, alleged due on a board bill.

Manuel Monize has filed suit for $75 against Stephen Reynolds. Reynolds is a barber who worked for some time in Monize's shop. Mr. Monize went on a note with Reynolds for $75 as a matter of friendly accommodation, and was left by Reynolds to pay the note when due.

Odd Burial of a Boston Man

Louis S. Talner, Boston business man and sportsman, when he died last January, requested that his ashes be deposited in the topmost boulder of "Whiteface," known as the "sportiest" peak of the White mountains. His funeral has just been held. His ashes, sealed in a canister, were placed in a hole drilled in the rock and a bronze tablet was placed over the hole.

"BROWNIE" MANAGER PALO ALTO STOCK FARM

Former Baden Farm Manager Heads Famous Stanford Ranch.

E. N. Brown, known to practically everybody in the north end of San Mateo county and especially well known to residents of South San Francisco, where he has resided for twenty-seven years, has taken a position as manager of the Palo Alto Stock Farm at Palo Alto. "Brownie," as he is affectionately known in this region, recently moved with his family to Mountain View, where he purchased a ranch. His new venture has necessitated another move and the Brown family are now located about half way between Menlo Park and Palo Alto, within a short distance of the Stanford campus.

"Brownie's" good fortune, while a matter of good news to his friends, will hardly cause surprise, as he is known to be an able farmer and stock raiser. For nine years he was the manager of the Baden Stock Farm west of the South San Francisco station on the San Mateo car line. Before going to the Baden Farm he was superintendent of the water works in South San Francisco for nine years. His new position carries much responsibility with it. The Palo Alto Stock Farm is the stock-ranch made famous years ago for the race horses it produced under the management of the Stanford interests. It is now given up largely to the breeding of Holstein and Guernsey stock, and is one of the largest breeding farms in the United States raising these breeds of cattle.

MR. AND MRS. E. C. PECK ENTERTAIN AT DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Peck gave a dinner at their home Monday evening. The guests were: Dr. and Mrs. F. S. Dolley, Dr. and Mrs. R. S. Irvine, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hynding, Miss Grace Martin, Jack Martin, T. V. Barton.

MRS. ED KAUFFMANN GIVES LUNCHEON FOR LODGE FRIENDS

Mrs. Ed Kauffmann entertained a group of ladies of the auxiliary of San Francisco Commandery, Knights Templar, at a luncheon on Wednesday. The day was spent in a rehearsal for a minstrel show to be given December 8th. Those present were: Mrs. E. Languetin, Mrs. G. H. Mize, Mrs. C. E. Farnsworth, Mrs. W. W. Thompson, Mrs. J. D. Harries, Mrs. F. C. Edmonds, Mrs. C. Mitchell, Mrs. C. King, Mrs. H. Voorhies, Mrs. F. Butler, Mrs. M. McCurdy, Mrs. B. Harries, and Mrs. E. P. Kauffmann.

AFTERNOON WHIST CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. KLEEMEYER

The afternoon whist club met at the home of Mrs. A. C. Kleemeyer on Wednesday afternoon. The prize was won by Mrs. W. R. Waelty.

NEW SECRETARY NOW ON DUTY FOR C. OF C.

H. E. Smith of Los Angeles Takes Position at City Hall.

The South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce now has a secretary on duty at its splendid new quarters at the city hall. H. E. Smith, who has taken over the duties of the office in the place of Robert Speed, resigned, comes to South San Francisco from Los Angeles. Until recently Mr. Smith was in the real estate business at Hermosa Beach, near Los Angeles. He comes to this region highly recommended.

Mr. Smith will put in all his time at the Chamber headquarters, being on duty there to meet visitors and give them any needed information about South San Francisco and its opportunities. It will also be part of his duties to take care of the exhibits of products of the local manufacturing plants, which will be installed there as fast as possible. At present the Chamber has on exhibition a collection of paintings of industrial scenes in and around the city. Recently the Chamber installed new furniture and now has an office second to none possessed by a Chamber of Commerce in this part of the state.

DRIVE TO PESCADERO ON THREE-DAY HUNTING TRIP

Newell Stearns, Pete Bono, Charlie Steele, and Les Moses started Thursday morning for a hunting trip to Pescadero. They drove over to the hunting grounds and expect to be gone till Sunday.

TWO ARE DROWNED IN BAY WHILE HUNTING

Henry Schmidt and W. A. Martin, Both of San Bruno, Die When Boat Capsizes Near Millbrae.

Henry Alec Schmidt Jr., one of the victims of the ill-fated hunting party from San Bruno, both members of which met death in the waters of San Francisco bay last Saturday, was buried at Cypress Lawn Cemetery Tuesday. An impressive service was conducted by the Rev. A. E. Limper of St. John's Lutheran Church at the chapel of H. F. Suhr & Co. in San Francisco. Rev. Mr. Limper spoke of the great loss to his parents and to the community and eulogized the great courage of Henry, who even to the last fought to save the life of his companion. Mr. Limper spoke from the text: "Greater love than this hath no man, that a man lay down his life for a friend." As a fitting end to his eulogy, Mr. Limper recited "Crossing the Bar."

After the services at the undertaking parlor a large procession escorted the body to the cemetery, where San Bruno Camp, No. 410, W. O. W., performed the last rites for their departed consul-commander and member. William Hoops, J. Starr, Arthur Meehan, H. McCracken, Al Engel, and Frank Valentine acted as pallbearers. Many beautiful floral pieces bore evidence of the number of sorrowing friends.

Henry Schmidt Jr. is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Schmidt; two sisters, Mrs. H. Cook and Marguerite Schmidt, and two brothers, Frank and Adolph. He was a member of Photo-Engravers' Union, No. 5, and San Bruno Camp, No. 410, W. O. W.

The body of W. A. Marton, the other victim of the ill-starred hunt, was cremated at Cypress Lawn Monday. Mr. Martin had resided in Millbrae Park for some time and was well known as the owner and manager of the pool hall in San Bruno. He is survived by his wife, a seven-day-old baby, and a son and daughter, Harold and Virginia.

Just how the accident happened by which the two met their death is not known. In some manner the boat in which they were hunting ducks on the bay capsized near Millbrae. After being in the cold water for several hours their cries for help were heard by Richard Boerner and Alfred Gee, two San Bruno youths, who went to their rescue. Martin, who could not be lifted into the boat, was towed ashore, where he died from exposure. Schmidt went down for the third time before the rescuers could return to him. His body was secured only after the tide went out, many hours after his death. It was then found that the cord which fastened the oarlocks together had become entangled about his arms. When it was found that the rescuers' boat was too small to take both men ashore, Schmidt insisted that Martin be taken first. That heroic act probably cost him his life.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL BRINGS GOOD RESULTS

Committees From Woman's Club Raise Over $600 in This City.

Although returns from the Red Cross roll call are not all in yet, there is every indication that South San Francisco did its duty as usual on all such occasions. There was a thorough canvass made of the residence district of town by the members of the Woman's Club, the town being worked by precincts. Another committee of women canvassed the factory district. When the result is all tabulated it is believed that it will go considerably over $600. The drive was in charge of E. E. Cunningham.

WHIST CLUB MEETS AT HOME OF A. P. SCOTT

The Whist Club was entertained Thursday evening by Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Scott at their Grand avenue home. The meeting was in honor of Mrs. E. N. Brown, a member of the club, who is not now a resident of this city. The first prize was won by W. J. Martin, the second by Dr. F. S. Dolley, and the third by J. O. Snyder.

BOY SCOUTS TO CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERS

SAN FRANCISCO COUNCIL PLANS
TO HAVE 5000 MEMBERS DEC. 11;
SEVEN TROOPS IN SAN MATEO
COUNCIL PART OF MOVEMENT.

"Five thousand Scouts in the San Francisco Council by December 11th." That has been adopted by the Boy Scouts of San Francisco and San Mateo county as their slogan in a big campaign for new members, which opened December 4th and will close one week later, December 11th. There are now approximately 3000 members in the council, and it is believed that the goal of 5000 will be well passed during the week.

The movement to extend the Scout work in this region was started by Charles Moore of San Francisco, president of the San Francisco Council. Mr. Moore has offered to present a fine silken flag to the troop in the council which enrolls the largest number of new members in proportion to its present membership. Thus small troops will be placed on an equal footing with large ones in the contest. As a further incentive to recruiting, it has been announced that the eight boys of the council bringing in the largest number of new recruits will be given free vacation trips to the Boy Scout camp next summer. It is expected that there will be keen competition for these trips.

There are seven Boy Scout troops in San Mateo county that are affiliated with the San Francisco council. One of these is in the Crocker Tract, one in South San Francisco, one in Hillsborough, one in Burlingame, one in Lomita Park, and two in San Mateo. All are live, active organizations with the brightest boys in the respective towns as members, and the week of the contest promises to be an interesting one for the boys and their friends.

GRACE EPISCOPAL CHURCH TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

Grace Episcopal Church will celebrate the twenty-fourth anniversary of its consecration on Sunday and Monday, December 12th and 13th. The Sunday services will be of a special nature. The Right Rev. Edward L. Parsons, D.D., Bishop Coadjutor of California, preaching in the evening. Monday, the 13th, there will be a congregational social gathering. Full details will be announced next week.

ED FLORENCE, MANAGER P. G. & E., TRANSFERRED

Official announcement of the promotion of Ed W. Florence, Redwood district manager of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, to the position of division manager of the Sacramento, Yolo and Solano counties consolidated districts, and the appointment of Walter T. Kellogg, superintendent of the gas department in the local district, as Florence's successor, was made here Monday. The Redwood district, which includes all the territory between South San Francisco and Mountain View, is to be consolidated with San Jose district, the combined districts to be known as the San Jose division. The Redwood offices on Broadway will remain and there will be no other changes in the office staff.

Florence has been district manager in the Redwood district for nine and a half years, coming here from the Fresno district, where he held a similar position. He has made himself extremely popular with all as manager here and his departure is sincerely regretted by a large circle of friends. The new position carries with it, however, a considerably larger salary and is a well-merited recognition of the ability of Mr. Florence, who is regarded as one of the most capable and efficient men in the employ of the P. G. & E. Florence will have his headquarters in Sacramento. His family, which consists of his wife and son, will continue to reside in San Mateo until they find a suitable house in the Capital City.

"THE COMMON MAN."

If I were just a common man and everywhere I went I made it my big business to scatter discontent;

If I were just a common man who lent a willing ear To all the muttering discord that any man may hear;

If I had a common memory that stowed away the hate That seems to fly and multiply in this old world of late;

If my initiative were just the common run, If I failed in common measure on the things that I begun,

And I put into action with all my human might The things that I believe in, would my hands be clean at night?

When I damn my old employer and wish he were in hell, Do I mean it—or just say it because it sounds so well?

If he were at my mercy, bound with fagots at a stake, Would I strike the match that burned him with my all-consuming hate?

If I joined a common union and it should come to pass That strikes made others suffer just to benefit my class;

If my wage were not sufficient to gratify each whim, Would I hit my job the harder with the proper sort of vim?

If I were just a common man with virtues of my lot, Would I work when men about me all declared that they would not?

Would I back my true convictions with my voice and with my vote, Would I be proof against the woof of doctrines now afloat?

If I were just a common man and paid a profiteer Some prices now prevailing, would I still think straight and clear?

If I were just a common man and saw my fellows spend With careless rash abandon of wealth that has no end,

If I were just a common man, and I am—like as not— Would the actions of the world today build temples in my thought?

If I were bent on winning and others blocked my way, Would I use force without remorse if it would win the day?

If I were just a common man, would I resist the lure Of power, pride and promises of things that seem so sure?

If I were just a common man and these things should prevail, I know my weakness well enough to know that I would fail;

And knowing what would come to me if I were sorely tried, I look upon the common man with patriotic pride.

I see how stanch he's standing, a guard beside the pass. A man whose institutions are above a creed or class,

And from him I take courage to do the best I can In every pinch, go every inch to be an American.

—Roy F. Soule in Associated Advertising.

"A la Carte."

After a trip from Gary to Michigan City over the roughest road I have ever seen, I felt the need of a good dinner.

I didn't see any place to eat, and so called out to a newsboy who stood near on the curbing. "Hey, there, do you know where I can get some good food?"

"Sure," he said, "follow me."

So saying, he hopped on to his bicycle and we followed. Where? To a hot dog wagon!

Fitting Revenge.

Wood—I understand some one stole your automobile?

Park—You are right.

"That's pretty low down, isn't it?"

"Yes. There's just one thing I wish."

"What's that?"

"I hope the thief keeps it as long as I did and he'll go flat broke."—Youngstown Telegram.

Love or Money.

"I intend to marry for love," said the girl with the dreamy eyes.

"You are wise, my dear," replied her dearest friend. "Men with money are often so hard to please."—London Answers.

SENIOR CLASS TO SELL CANDY AT HIGH SCHOOL

From Cupid's dreams to all-day suckers, that is the range of sweets that will be on sale at the high school next Monday and Tuesday. The plan is to turn the corridor and reception room at the high school into a candy store where all kinds, flavors and varieties of candies will be sold. The idea originated with the senior class and the class members will be the candy merchants for the time being. All the candy will be home-made, neither toothache or stomach-ache. The receipts from the sale will go into the funds of the senior class to help pay graduation and other expenses. Nobody will be limited as to the amount of candy he may buy, and it is expected that some purchasers will lay in a winter's supply.

MRS. KAY ENTERTAINS WITH DINNER FOR MISS HEIN

Mrs. James Kay entertained at a dinner party last Saturday evening in honor of Miss Viola Hein. Those present were Miss Viola Hein, Miss Alice Stearns, Paul Dunkley, and Thomas Kay.

BEING FAT IS REAL TRAGEDY

To Modern Woman It Is a Worry That Frequently Leads to Ruined Health and Insanity.

A fat man is usually a jolly sort of an individual who accepts the world as the same sort of a joke as the world considers him. Girth, says the New York Sun, may worry a man occasionally because it is an annoyance, but with the modern woman it verges upon tragedy. As physicians—if they would talk freely—can tell you, it is a worry to them that frequently leads to ruined health, insanity or the grave.

It is possible for a man to grow fat gracefully. At least he can subdue his habits, stop running for trains, give up his golf and spend most of his time in ponderous poses. His tailor can easily arrange his clothing into well-known and accepted lines.

The case of the woman is different. Fashion blinds her as with a chain. There are no stylish frocks for stout women. The fashion of today calls for slim figures and trim ankles. Waists and hips are taboo. There are no sleeves capable of concealing over-fleshed arms. Man can adapt his clothes to his figure, but woman must adapt her figure to the clothes, or else shamelessly admit that she cannot wear what is fashionable.

It was not always so. In another generation the stout woman had a well defined place—the "dowager type." It was sometimes called. The woman who made the best biscuits and cooked the most savory chicken was always a rotund sort of person who never minded it when people came unexpectedly around dinner time. She was the one children flocked to for sympathy and the one who seemed to make the world brighter wherever she went.

FORKS FIRST USED IN 1574

Occasion Was Dinner Given by Henry III of France—Account Given by Royal Guest.

It is hard to believe the sensation produced when forks first came into use. It was in 1574, at a dinner given by Henry III of France. Here is an account by a royal lady guest, the Ladies' Home Journal recalls: "The guests never touched the meat with their fingers, but with forks, which they carried to their mouths, bending their necks and bodies over their plates."

"There were several salads. These they ate with forks, for it is not considered proper to touch the food with the fingers. However difficult it may be to manage it, it is thought better to put the little instrument in the mouth than the fingers."

"Then artichokes, asparagus, peas and beans were brought. It was a pleasure to watch them try to eat these with their forks, for some, who were less adroit than the others, dropped as many on their plates and on the way to the mouth as they were able to get to their mouths."

"Afterward a great silver basin and a pitcher of water were brought and the guests washed their hands, though it seems as if there would not be much scent of meat and grease on them, for they had touched their food only with those forked instruments."

ALMA BEZZECA GIVES PARTY ON HER BIRTHDAY

Miss Alma Bezzeca, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Bezzeca of South San Francisco, entertained a number of her young friends at a party last Sunday, the occasion being Miss Bezzeca's fourteenth birthday. Games were played and refreshments of candy, ice cream and cake were served. The party being enjoyed in the open air on the hill just north of town. The young hostess was given a number of birthday presents by her guests. Those present beside Miss Bezzeca and her father and mother were: Mamie Martinelli, Rosie Maggi, Dorothy Stiremen, Bernice Stiremen, Effie Lewis, Marion and Lillian Bezzeca.

STANDARD OIL PLANT SHOULD HAVE BEEN INCLUDED TOO

In the list of industrial plants of South San Francisco, as published in The Enterprise special edition, the Standard Oil plant at Baden station was inadvertently omitted. The Standard Oil distributing station has been established at Baden for a number of years and is worthy special mention among the industries of the town.

HAUGHY SAW WORKS ACQUIRED MANUFACTURING RIGHTS ONLY

In the "write-up" of the Haughy Saw Works in the big Enterprise special edition, it was stated that the company had acquired the patents on the wrench invented by Mr. Bessolo. This statement was the result of a misunderstanding. The Haughy Company has acquired the manufacturing rights for the Bessolo wrench for the United States, but not the patent. Mr. Bessolo retained the patent and the Haughy Company will manufacture the wrenches on a royalty basis. At the same time Bessolo has turned over to the Haughys 200 equities in the royalties.

LONG LOST ROMAN CARVING

Story of the Rediscovery of a Lost Treasure, Now in British Museum.

A remarkably beautiful specimen of Roman sepulchral carving has just been added to the British museum through the generosity of Ernest Dixon. The story of the rediscovery of this treasure is romantic. Mr. Dixon acquired it from a contractor in London, in whose yard it had been lying for some fifty years. He placed his purchase so as to form the central feature of a rock garden in Putney, but afterward struck by its unusual beauty, brought it to the notice of the British museum authorities, who identified it as a genuine and long lost antique, says the Boston Transcript. The sculpture is a marble relief, over five feet long by nearly two feet wide. It shows three draped busts set in a deeply recessed panel. It was a monument to Lucius Ampudius Philomusus, and the busts depict himself, his wife and his daughter. The relief is not a part of a sarcophagus, but is a slab built originally into the wall of a tomb. Its date is probably between B. C. 25 and A. D. 25.

The sculpture is first mentioned by Blanchini of Verona, who was copying Roman inscriptions between 1706 and 1715. It had been excavated probably about 1700, near the Porta Capena and was taken to the Villa Casali. Seen and noted on more than one occasion during the eighteenth century, the last copyist to mention it was George Zoega, who was established at Rome between 1784 and 1809. After this the relief became lost to the world. It was perhaps shipped home by some traveling Englishman, who placed it in his house or garden in the St. John's wood region, and thence it found its way to the contractor's yard from which it has now been rescued.

At the services of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church, Sunday, December 5th, the pastor will preach on the following themes:

11 a. m. "The Church and Moral Progress."

8 p. m. "Inexperienced Youth and the City's Pitfalls."

Bible school at 10 a. m. Epworth League service at 7 p. m. "Epworth Herald Day." Leader, Miss Sarah M. Doak.

Junior Epworth League and Catechism Class on Tuesday, at 3:30 p. m. Prayer meeting on Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m.

You are invited to attend these services.

Episcopal.

The Rev. Edward H. Molony will answer the question, "What is the difference between Confirmation and Joining the Church?" at both services next Sunday.

Morning service, 11 a. m. Evening service, 7:30. Visitors cordially welcome.

WILL ORGANIZE ORCHESTRA FOR ST. PAUL'S M. E. CHURCH

A plan to start a stringed orchestra among the attendants at St. Paul's Methodist Church is now on foot, and promises to result in an organization that will prove very popular among the young people of the church. Guitars, mandolins, banjos, and violins are the instruments it is expected to have in the orchestra, and any person playing any of these who wishes to join is invited to communicate with the pastor, Rev. Daniel Stevens. Louis Merki of San Francisco, a teacher of stringed instrument playing, will lead the orchestra, and the players will have the benefit of expert instruction.

PRACTICAL RECIPES

The process of preserving eggs in sodium silicate—water glass—is known to many people, but there are still some who are a bit hazy regarding the details.

An Ohio home demonstration agent was in her office last summer busily working when the telephone rang. An anxious feminine voice was on the other end of the line.

"Are you the home demonstration agent? Well, I heard you were telling people how to put up eggs so they keep well. I heard it was in water glasses. I wanted to ask about it. I haven't enough water glasses to put up many and I can't afford to buy them for that purpose, but I have a lot of jelly glasses that I thought I could use. You see we didn't have much fruit to make jelly of this year. Do the glasses have to have covers?"

Water Glass Method Recommended
During spring and early summer, when eggs are abundant and reasonable in price, attention should be given to preserving them for winter use. Fresh eggs properly preserved may be kept for eight to twelve months in excellent condition and used with good results.

Eggs laid in April, May, or early June have been found to keep better than those laid later in the season.

If satisfactory results are to be obtained, the eggs should be fresh and clean and, if possible, infertile. Eggs that float when placed in the solution are not fresh and therefore cannot be preserved. When an egg is only slightly soiled, a cloth dampened with vinegar can be used to remove the stains. Under no circumstances should badly soiled eggs be used for preserving; if put into the jar while dirty they will spoil, and washing removes a protective coating which prevents spoiling.

Cost Is 2 Cents a Dozen

A good method for the preservation of eggs is the use of sodium silicate or water glass. If the price of sodium silicate is about 30 cents a quart, eggs may be preserved at a cost of approximately 2 cents a dozen. It is not desirable to use the water glass solution a second time.

Use one quart of sodium silicate to nine quarts of water that has been boiled and cooled. Place the mixture in a five-gallon crock or jar. This will be sufficient to preserve fifteen dozen eggs and will serve as a guide for the quantity needed to preserve larger numbers of eggs.

The crock should be cleaned thoroughly, and then sealed and allowed to dry.

Heat a quantity of water to the boiling point and allow it to cool.

When cool measure out nine quarts of water, place it in the crock, and add one quart of sodium silicate, stirring the mixture thoroughly.

The eggs should be placed in the solution. If sufficient eggs are not

MUCH TRIMMING LIKED

A single glance at the group of dress hats shown here is enough to convince one that millinery has gone the way of dresses and that fashion demands trimmings and elaborations of all sorts on headwear. There are many fabric hats, from sheer laces to heavy velvet. Rich embroideries, plumage ornaments and ostrich feathers contribute their part to hats that look everywhere for ingenious decoration in this season of wonderful millinery.

SUITS WITH EMBROIDERY

Embroidery enriches many of the new suits, and it is used on all the different clothes effectively. But there are none of them that make a better background for it than velours or velvet or broadcloth. Any one of these will invite just such lavish decoration as appears on the formal suit pictured here. It has a double breast.

obtainable when the solution is first made, additional eggs may be added from time to time. Be careful to allow at least two inches of the solution to

HOW MUCH MEAT AND EGGS SHOULD BE GIVEN A CHILD?

In some families children do not get enough meat and eggs; in others they get too much. A good general rule commonly followed is to give a child 2 years old or over an egg every other day, and about the same amount (two ounces) of meat, fish, or poultry on intervening days. If for any reason these are omitted from the child's diet, special care must be taken to see that other suitable foods take their place—preferably an extra amount of milk. Broiling and roasting are the best methods of preparing tender meat for a child. Tough meat should be stewed or prepared in a fireless cooker or fire chopped and then broiled. It is important to teach children to chew meat and other foods properly. Fried meats, particularly those pan-fried or cooked in a small amount of fat, should not be given to young children, say nutrition specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. One reason for this is that fried meats are apt to be overcooked and tough, at least on the outside, and so are likely not to be properly chewed. Another reason is that the fat used in frying, as well as that which fries out of the meat, is likely to be scorched and changed in composition. When this is the case, it is almost certain to be harmful.

CORN RELISH EASY TO MAKE; GOOD USE FOR LATE EARS
If the frost has spared a few ears of green corn in your garden, it wouldn't be amiss to put them into corn relish. The following recipe for it is recommended by household specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture:

TOBACCO NEXT?

We learn that the veto of the abolitionists will shortly fall upon tobacco. The use of tobacco is not conducive to good health, they say. At all events, this is true of its abuse.

We fear there is only too much accuracy in this reasoning. The abuse of tobacco is, unquestionably, harmful. It is even poisonous. And if the widespread use of an article is a prelude to widespread overindulgence in it, the correct attitude of every discerning citizen is beyond discussion. The use of the article must be entirely suppressed.

This newspaper wishes to declare its position in no uncertain terms. Every influence that threatens national health must be abolished, and if tobacco is harmful, tobacco must go.

So must the corset. Many specialists in hygiene have analyzed the effect of the corset on the female organs, and their verdict is "thumbs down." This newspaper hardly claims to be an arbiter in a debate concerning feminine costuming, but it claims, at least, the merit of consistency. If tobacco and corsets are endangering public health, we demand a death sentence upon them. Also upon the high-heeled shoe. Also face-powder. The medical profession has long ago declared itself.

And these are only the beginning of our list; but there is not space in one editorial to tabulate the whole. In succeeding weeks we hope to enumerate all the things that must be abolished—if the use of a thing and its abuse are identical. The condemned items to be listed are multitudinous, but if we live long enough we hope to catalogue them all.

In the meantime the editor will continue to smoke his faithful briar and under the soothing of the "poisonous" weed that fills it write editorials which, he hopes, contain enough of wisdom to make them worth the reader's time, enough of kindness toward his fellow-men to bring a little more cheer down upon this paper's friends. And as he puffs and as he writes, he is sending up a little offering of thanks that tobacco has not yet been placed in the limbo of things forbidden by law.

MAKE YOURSELF COMFORTABLE.

Statistics have proved that by economy and industry—exercised continually, not sporadically—any wage earner or salaried man can make himself financially independent long before he is old. But how many of us do?

The reason why we don't is that "a man only lives once." We have only one chance to be young, and if we don't get all of the fun out of life in our youth, our appetites may be dulled by the lapse of time before we are able to indulge them at leisure.

So we don't control our appetites. We refuse to blend our industry with consistent economy. We go the pace in our youth, and feel the lack of affluence in the decline of life.

If we could make the two virtues—industry and economy—inherent, permanent, and universal in this town, we as a community would then indeed set a pace of prosperity and happiness which would shed the radiance of peace and joy from the beginning to the end of life.

And such a thing is possible right in this community—in this town—among ourselves.

GOOD WORDS AND BAD.

Often a good reputation is seriously impaired by a careless word or two said in jest and repeated in thoughtlessness. It is the same in this community as in all others.

Men and women can not guard too well their tongues in this respect. It is not good that our citizens be constantly exposed to the impairment of their good names because some other person, in a moment of thoughtlessness or in a spirit of vindictiveness, makes questionable allusions to them without the facts to substantiate such derogatory statements.

We are all interested in this town and the surrounding territory. We want to see it grow, and thrive, and blossom with prosperity. We want to see it a model community. But it will never be other than just what we of the community make it. If we insist on constantly hammering each other, we can only expect a battered wreck as the result. But if we remember that in all people there is some good, and look to and speak of the best in life rather than the worst, it will have a wonderfully beneficial result.

If each of us will search out his own faults, and correct them, we will be doing quite as much as can be expected of us individually. If a stone must be cast, withhold your arm. Let the constituted officials handle the case. It is better than an indiscriminate shower of missiles, whether they be verbal or otherwise.

This is OUR town. Let us BOOST, and not shove.

The Turks are said to be buying about ten thousand tons of American coal each month. Did they get any of yours?

No, we don't hear of any farmers offering to take on winter help in exchange for their keep. It might be cheaper to pay wages.

Most people who are willing to do eight hours of honest work in eight hours of time will be able to hold on to their jobs. But the loafers and incompetents, like chickens, will have to scratch.

It's a fact, though, that some men never fail in an undertaking. They never begin.

And still, we are firmly convinced that prices will ultimately come down—when we go up and get them.

The science of love making has degenerated into an absurdity, if we may judge from a scene that was observed recently when they forgot to draw the curtains. But don't embarrass us with questions.

In the next world, perhaps, we will be able to shake hands with that old and valued friend we lament so much—a nickel loaf of bread.

Cheer up young man. It is easy to marry now and a darned sight easier to unmarried.

Love continues to come unbidden, but it often takes a lot of scheming to get the engagement ring.

Everybody is talking about the necessity for readjustment, and wondering when the other fellow is going to begin.

Home-Made Ornaments for the Christmas Tree

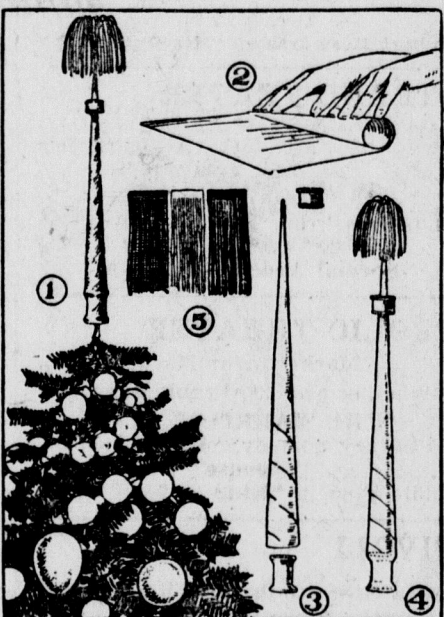

By A. NEELY HALL

(Copyright, by A. Neely Hall.)

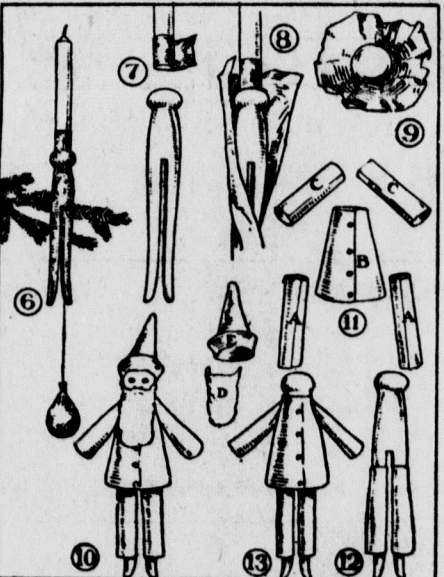

Suppose that you prepare some homemade Christmas-tree ornaments like those in the illustrations, to go with the ornaments which you have, for this year's tree. They will help to cover the tree, and, not only that, they will make your tree more interesting because they will be different from anything you can buy.

The pretty spear top ornament in Fig. 1 is made of a sheet of letter-paper rolled into a cornucopia, with a thread spool glued in the open end (Figs. 2 and 3), and a small silk-spool slipped over the small end (Figs. 3 and 4); then all is covered with tinfoil, and a tassel made of pieces of red, white and blue paper, slashed into fringe (Fig. 5), is fastened in the apex. Tinfoil can be obtained from a florist.

Unless you can have electric lights, it is better not to light the tree at all, than to run the risk of its catching fire. But unlit candles make pretty ornaments, so I have shown a homemade holder in Fig. 6. This is made by wrapping a clothespin with tinfoil so the upper edge of the tinfoil projects to form a cup for the candle (Fig. 8). Wrap the end of the candle with tinfoil to make it fit the cup (Fig. 7). The clothespin sets down over the tip of a branch, as shown in Fig. 6, and the weight made of a marble or piece of clay, wrapped in tinfoil (Fig. 9), is suspended by thread from one leg of the clothespin (Fig. 6), to balance the holder.

Little Santa Claus dolls like that shown in Fig. 10, to straddle the tree branches, are pretty and easily made. The bodies are clothespins, with trouser legs of red paper (A, Fig. 11) slipped over the ends (Fig. 12), a red paper coat (B and C, Fig. 11), glued close to the head of the pin (Fig. 13), cotton whiskers (D, Fig. 11), a red paper peaked hat (E), and eyes marked with ink upon the clothespin head.

The airship in Fig. 14 has a balloon with ends made of the halves of an egg-shell (A, Figs. 15 and 16). The ends are connected by a cylindrical piece (B) rolled out of cardboard, to which they are glued; and a strip of cardboard (C) is glued along each side. The car is a small box, and the propeller (D) is pivoted to its end with a pin. Threads suspend the car from the balloon, and others suspend the balloon from the Christmas tree. Paint the balloon red and the car yellow.

Probably you have prepared colored popcorn strings, but I wonder if you have made strings of cranberries and glass beads? Fig. 17 suggests a way to alternate the beads and cranberries so they will present the form of glass ball strings. To make the cranberries sparkle like glass balls, coat some with glue and sprinkle with the powdered mica sold for imitation snow, and gild others with gold bronze—the kind sold for decorating radiators or wrap in tinfoil.

Administrator of the Estate of William F. Delaney, Deceased.

FRED L. DREHER, Attorney for Administrator, 504 Bank of Italy Building, San Francisco, California. 12-3-3t.

DEATHS.

TRAVIOLI—In South San Francisco, December 1, 1920, Ira Travioli of San Bruno, aged 66 years. The funeral was held Thursday from the S. Neri parlors in South San Francisco. The deceased leaves three sons, Frank and Everett of South San Francisco and Otto of Terra Haute, Ind., and four daughters,

TOO MUCH "THANK YOU."

We honestly believe that in the matter of doing things for a mere "thank you" the weekly newspapers of this country hold the record.

We say it with no desire to discriminate, for we believe Ambridge people are no different from those to be found elsewhere, but we feel that on reflection they will agree it is true—that for the number of favors rendered no other institution is as poorly paid as the newspaper. The church has a bazaar, the school has a concert, a club brings a paid speaker or musician to town and does so to make money, and yet in almost every instance the newspaper is called on to announce the date, boost the attraction, get out the crowd—and then be satisfied with a free ticket. And often, very often, the promoters overlook even the free ticket.

It is hard for some people to understand that about all a newspaper has to sell is its space, or at least that part of its space not devoted to actual news happenings. If it gives away its space, where is it to get money for more white paper, more ink, more type—for type wears out—and for rent and heat and light and the scores of other things that it is forced to pay out good money for? They wouldn't go to the merchant and say, "We're going to hold a bazaar to make some money; give us some of your goods to sell that night." Yet they say to the editor, "We're going to hold a bazaar; give us your advertising space, so we can get a crowd that will spend its money." And yet there's no difference.

The newspapers are here to boost every worthy institution—and this one expects to keep on doing it. But we'd get down on our knees and thank the good Lord right now if we could make every one see that it takes money to run a newspaper, just the same as it does anything else.—Ambridge (Pa.) News-Herald.

Movie Love.

I like the movie courtship.
The beau is always stout.
When the old man upsets his plan
He just fades out.

The young man's girl is steadfast,
Can shoot folks at a pinch,
She's very sweet and when they meet
They always clinch.

I like the movie hero,
I like the movie dove;
Can watch with joy without alloy
Five reels of love.

—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Do Your Feet Require Attention?

Do you feel sharp pains in the fore part of your foot?

Do the pains come on suddenly while walking or standing?

Such pains are almost certain signs of metatarsalgia, a most common and serious form of foot trouble.

Have you fallen arches? Does it hurt you to walk or stand?

Do the callouses on your feet feel like pebbles?

Have you corns or ingrown nails?

If you suffer, see me.

Miss Claire Forster of Lomita Park attended an installation of the Eastern Star lodge in the Richmond district last Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Ethel English and daughter of North Dakota are visiting with Mrs. English's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Foraker, of Third addition.

The Northbrae school was visited by thieves during the past week. No clues have as yet been secured as to who the miscreants are.

C. A. Brose sustained severe injuries while at his work Tuesday afternoon and is now at St. Mary's Hospital. His condition is serious.

The many friends of Miss Anne McInerney, who was so seriously injured when struck by an auto in San Francisco recently, will be glad to learn that she has regained consciousness and has taken a turn for the better.

Norman Ried and sister, Florence, of Lomita Park spent Sunday evening with Vernon Hanks at Letterman Hospital. Vernon was a former resident of San Bruno for several years, and is now in a very critical condition as a result of injuries sustained "overseas."

Mrs. C. P. McCuen, wife of Superintendent of Schools C. P. McCuen, has taken charge of the first grade in Miss Anne McInerney's position, who is now at the French Hospital in a dangerous condition as a result of injuries sustained in a recent automobile accident.

The California State Alliance of the Epworth League will conduct the league services at the M. E. church next Sunday evening, December 5th. The services will be very interesting and every member of the local league should make a point to attend. On Friday evening, December 10th, the regular monthly business meeting of the league will be held in the church hall.

Aram Osaplen of Stanford University, Miss Elsie Brink of San Francisco, and Mrs. O. P. McCool of Chicago were guests of T. Forster and family of Lomita Park during the Thanksgiving season. As November 24th was the twenty-fifth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Forster's wedding, the holiday was of double significance. Mrs. McCool, who is Mrs. Forster's sister, will spend the winter in California.

TO PLAY HILLSBOROUGH.

The boys' and girls' teams of the Edgemont grammar school will engage the Hillsborough school teams in their first game of basketball at Hillsborough next Saturday.

Notice to Citizens of San Bruno as to Dumping of Garbage on Vacant Lots, Public Places, and Streets.

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to an order of the Board of Trustees of the City of San Bruno, that Ordinance No. 17 of the City of San Bruno prohibits the dumping or placing of garbage or rubbish on vacant lots, streets or places in the City, as well as leaving exposed on any premises occupied by any person any garbage or rubbish subject to decomposition or that will emit offensive odors or be a menace to public health—such garbage should be immediately destroyed or buried.

A violation of this law makes a person amenable to a fine not exceeding fifty dollars or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days or both. All citizens are urged to conform strictly to this law, as it means PUBLIC HEALTH, and the Board of Trustees shall order a strict enforcement of same. NETTIE A. WILLITS, City Clerk. 11-5-4t

LADIES' AID SOCIETY HOLDS VERY SUCCESSFUL BAZAAR

The bazaar held by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church last Saturday evening was both a financial and social success. Many and varied were the articles offered for sale. The church hall was very prettily decorated and helped to make the evening more enjoyable for all.

During the evening a very pleasing program was presented, as follows: Song by group of boys, accompanied and directed by Master Billy Eddy; song, Mrs. Ethel English; trio, Alice Stearns, Viola Hein and Newell Stearns; song, Mrs. Foraker's class of girls; song, boys' class, conducted by Miss Claire Forster; recitation, Jack Foraker.

MANY ORGANIZATIONS TO TAKE PART IN CARNIVAL

All the residents of San Bruno and its surroundings are looking forward to the "Rainbow Carnival," to be given by the Community Center at California Hall, December 10th and 11th. A number of organizations are combining to make the affair a success, among them the Chamber of Commerce, the baseball club, the local lodge of Yeomen, the Parent-Teacher Association, and the Community Center. The Parent-Teacher Association will have charge of the candy booth, and it is expected this will be one of the features of the occasion.

SAN BRUNO RESIDENT DIES IN SO. SAN FRANCISCO

Ira Travioli, for several years a resident of San Bruno, died early Wednesday morning at the South San Francisco Hospital, after a long illness. About two months ago Mr. Travioli stepped on a nail, and after a short time blood poisoning set in. Monday his condition became so serious that amputation became necessary.

The sympathies of their many friends go to the family. Besides his wife, two daughters, Mrs. J. Manseau and Esther Travioli, and two sons, Frank and Everett, survive him. The funeral was held Thursday.

FAVORED CLASS IN RUSSIA

Only Actresses Are Permitted by Government to Wear Shoes and Finery.

There is only one favored class in Russia today, according to a Paris correspondent. Strangely enough, this class is composed entirely of women. They are the theatrical stars and beauties. They alone are permitted the wearing of rich garments and the possession of jewels. The Russians have always been passionate lovers of the theater, and, even under the present regime they treat their stage favorites as so many reigning queens.

Incidentally, the actresses are the only women in Russia today who are permitted to wear shoes during warm weather. The peasant women of Russia always went barefoot during the summer months. Hence Russians regard bare feet as the distinguishing mark of the woman of the people. Any woman who affects to wear shoes in Russia nowadays, unless she be a favorite of the footlights, is regarded as a daughter of the despised "bourgeoisie." She is considered a fair target for insult and persecution. Even the wives of soviet dignitaries, such as Trotsky and Lenin, have been obliged to bow to popular sentiment. They may be seen any day in Moscow tripping through the streets barefoot.

The Firefly's Light.

Fame and fortune await the scientist who discovers the secret of the familiar firefly or lightning bug. No one has been able to tell how the little insect produces the flashes of light we see twinkling about on dark nights. Careful scientific tests have proven, however, that this light is produced with about one four-hundredths part of the energy which is expended in the flame of a candle. Considering the strength or rather feebleness of the firefly this light is believed to be the most efficient form of illumination today. If this method could be understood and put to work it is calculated that the energy exerted by a boy in driving a bicycle would be sufficient to run a powerful dynamo or light miles of street lamps. The light of the firefly is practically heatless and it is believed among scientists that the future of the lighting industry of the world depends upon the discovery of heatless light.—Boys' Life.

I RAGAZZI ESPLORATORI AL LAVORO PER MOLTI NUOVI MEMBRI

I Ragazzi Esploratori del concilio di San Francisco, il quale include sette corpi nella contea di San Mateo aprirono una campagna ieri per accrescere il loro numero fino a 5000. In questo concilio vi sono al presente circa 3000 membri.

Il presidente del concilio Charles Moore di San Francisco ha promesso al corpo che trova la più grande percentuale di membri una nuova bandiera di seta ed un viaggio gratis al campo dei Fanciulli Esploratori la prossima Estate, per quegli otto ragazzi portanti più reclute.

LASCIANO LA VITA NELLE ACQUE DELLA BAI

Henry Schmidt e William H. Martin, due giovani di San Bruno, trovarono misera fine nelle acque della baia, Sabato scorso. I due giovani erano andati alla caccia dei germani in una piccola barca, la quale per non si sa quale caso si capovolse.

Richard Boerner e Alfred Gee, pure di San Bruno, udirono le grida di aiuto dei due anneganti ed andarono in loro soccorso.

Martin fu portato a spiaggia ma non pote' piu' recuperare i propri sensi, mentre Schmidt, stanco ed impotente a piu' lottare con le acque cadde dalla capovoltita imbarcazione alla quale si teneva disperatamente aggrappato, ed il suo corpo non fu trovato che Domenica mattina.

Tutti e due erano ben conosciuti in San Bruno.

DUE MARINAI CREDUTI IMPLICATI IN LADROCINI

Willie Avalino e U. R. Le Fevre, dichiaranti di essere marinai della corazzata Idaho furono arrestati in Colma Sabato ed alloggiati nella carceri di Daly City accusati di aver derubato A. W. Mandatt, un lattai di Daly City.

Due uomini s'impadronirono di $40 in contanti ed $800 di gioielli dal Mandatt minacciandolo colla rivoltella.

E' rapportato che quando i due marinai furono arrestati, siano stati trovati in possesso di alcuni dei gioielli rubati al Mandatt.

A SENTIMENT IN VERSE.

"One purpose for our work," you say; One aim, one end—the lure of pay!"

Great God! And has it come to this—Our ethics gone so far amiss That for the sake of worldly spoil We lose all sight of good in toil? Shall we renounce our ancient creed And serve alone the God of Greed? The standards must we then forget Immortals of our craft have set? Shall we no longer bear a part Preservative in realms of art, But build for worldly gain, alone To win a seat on Mammon's throne? Great God, be this our battle cry—Then let the Art of Printing die!

Because a world is money-crazed Shall we, as well, become so dazed By thought of gain and greed and gold We lose all higher aims we hold? Shall art and knowledge be subdued, While we, with money-lust imbued, Set Midas o'er the mighty press And measure thus our craft's success? Great God be this our battle cry, Then let the Art of Printing die!

But no—when Greed has had its day; When profiteers have passed away With all their money-changing spawn The mighty Press will still roll on With purpose and ideals unswerving; Humanity will still be served. A profit, yes, that we may live Consistent with the fruits we give, But keeping always in the van The pride and honor of our clan. And long as mortals live and strive Thank God The Art will still survive.—Earl H. Emmons in The American Printer.

CUT OUT THE EAVESDROPPER

New Device is Expected to Eliminate "Listening in" on Wireless Messages.

Successful demonstrations of a new wireless invention, which marks a step toward the secrecy of wireless telephone and telegraph messages, have taken place in Great Britain, and Signor Marconi is at present conducting further tests at sea in his yacht Electra with a view to its wider application.

Details of the invention are secret, but it may be stated that, according to the Continental edition of the London Daily Mail, an apparatus has been devised which, by what experts call an "electrical method of concentration," propagates the electric wireless wave in a "beam" in any desired direction and in that direction only. Hitherto the electrical waves sent out from wireless stations have spread out in all directions and all who "listened in" could hear. The new invention will mark the end of the wireless "eavesdropper." When it is perfected a wireless station will be able to send out Morse or spoken messages which will be heard only by those for whom they are intended.

The new apparatus which is being worked at an experiment station in Great Britain with a short wave length, has recently been demonstrated by a number of experts who expressed the greatest interest in the discovery.

It is known that German wireless research has been lately closely directed to this problem of the "eavesdropper," for the Germans realized that we were able to pick up with our listening sets much valuable information about Zeppelin movements during the war.

HOW DOLLAR WORKS FOR YOU

Benjamin Franklin's Fund of $5,000 Grew to $431,383 in One Hundred Years.

How the dollar invested works for the individual himself has been best illustrated by that first great American teacher of thrift, Benjamin Franklin. In 1791, he bequeathed $1,000 ($5,000) to the commonwealth of Massachusetts and to the city of Boston as a mark of his appreciation for having appointed him as agent in England at the "handsome" salary of £2,000 ($10,000) and to make his bequest really valuable with his great foresight, Franklin provided in his will that this $1,000 should be put out at 5 per cent interest for one hundred years; that at the end of that time 31-131 of the fund accumulated should again be put out at interest for another hundred years and then the fund be divided one-fourth to Boston and three-fourths to the state. Let us show how well that $1,000 of Franklin's has worked. At the end of the first hundred years it had grown to $431,383.62. It was then divided in accordance with the will; $329,300.48 was set aside for "public work" and $102,083.14 was started on its course of earning interest for another hundred years. That was in 1891. January 1, 1918, this sum had grown to $267,805.15 and at this rate of increase the fund should amount to at least six million dollars when the second period is completed, and may be considerable more.—World's Work.

Title Fits the Duties.

The colored caretaker of a small town library boasted the title of "Custodian," which he had embroidered on the front of his cap, a source of lasting pride. Having marked diplomatic ability, he deserved a four-syllable title. One morning while he was sweeping off the front walk a wandering loafer, also of African extraction, paused in front of him and scrutinized the cap closely. "Cuss-todian!" he ejaculated. "Down wah! I came from they calls common niggers like you janitahs." "Ye-es," observed the ebony-hued diplomat, pausing a moment from his labors, "dat's all right in Memphis. But on a job like dis, 'custodian' is mo' appropriate. You see, you haf to cuss half de patrons and toady to de rest of 'em."—Judge.

Not All Blind.

Two charming sisters are engaged to two brothers, and their neighbors have been interested in this dual love affair. The young girls live in the second flat of a house on the south side of the street, and the other day the elder sister was stopped in the street by the young scion of the family who occupy the second flat in the house just opposite.

"Oh, Miss Miggs," said the boy, "my papa said last night that someone ought to tell you to pull down the blinds, 'cause if love is blind, the neighbors are not!"—London Tit-Bits.

From Ear to Ear.

Willie was away from home for the first time, staying with some friends. He was allowed to "sit up" for dinner. The servant came round with a plate of slices of melon, and the hostess noticed Willie hesitate about helping himself. "Don't you like melon?" asked his hostess encouragingly. "Very much, thank you," replied Willie, "only they make your ears so wet."

On the Dry Bathing Beach.

Mabel—That's a lovely bathing suit you're wearing. But aren't you afraid water will take the color out? Joan—It might, so I always have it dry cleaned.—Detroit News.

Too Much Candor.

My traveling companion had been carrying an old black bag which barely held together. I had told her that she would have to carry a different piece of baggage if she were going to travel with me, but it made no impression.

One early morning we sat down in a small waiting room in a branch line station in central Oregon. Next to me was an old black bag with which I began to fumble. Finally I put my finger through a rip in the side and began to pull out some wearing apparel and at the same time turned to my friend and said: "Pauline, you certainly ought to be ashamed of yourself to carry such a ramshackle contraption as this bag is."

"I beg your pardon," said a woman seated on the other side of me, "but that is my bag."

Brazil's Big Snake Nursery.

There are said to be more snakes in Brazil than in any other country of the western hemisphere, an exchange remarks. At Batuntan, near Sao Paulo, there is a great snake garden where scientists are studying the mysteries of snake biology. The original season for the establishment of the garden, which is a huge nursery for snakes, was to obtain serum enough for those bitten by snakes throughout Brazil. The garden is 600 acres in extent and divided into three departments, two of which are devoted to cobras, crotalids and bothrops, the most poisonous snakes known; while the third department is given to the nonpoisonous snakes.

Losing Age Rapidly.

"There, sir, that's made you ten years younger," said the hairdresser, brushing away the last fragment of the customer's close-cropped beard. A week elapsed ere the same victim occupied the chair, and in that week the hirsute crop had regained its former luxuriance.

"What can I do for you this time, sir?" asked the artist politely.

"Oh, clip off another ten years," came the reply.—Houston Post.

"Rare Olde Chester"

The Castle, Chester.

FEW cities in England retain so distinct a flavor of medieval times as "Rare Olde Chester," on the River Dee. Winchester is hoary with age—so are Gloucester, Canterbury, Coventry and countless other places in the kingdom, writes Katherine Shepherd Smith in the Springfield Republican.

But should one disembark at Liverpool with a mind intent upon studying English lands, people—and, above all, English history—Chester, sixteen miles distant, would be an ideal place in which to set out upon such a pilgrimage.

There, more easily than almost anywhere else, one can trace the very beginnings of England. Chester's ancient walls still surround the site of the Roman deva, or Devana Castra (camp of the Dee). The Anglo-Saxons called it Chester.

Phantom City of the Past.

The Romans, whose occupancy lasted four centuries, selected this high, picturesque spot overlooking the river and the mountains of North Wales, for the station of their famous 20th Legion.

Excavating a solid rock to a depth of four to ten feet, upon which to found the camp, they built roundabout their defensive walls.

The Roman camp was in the form of a parallelogram and Chester followed the same lines in the original streets of the city. The four principal thoroughfares now cross at right angles the rocky Roman oblong.

After the Romans there came, in turn, the Welsh, Saxons, Danes and Normans. Chester was not taken by William the Conqueror until 1070. In viewing the city the walls claim one's first attention. The present residents seem to live in a phantom city of the past, and almost to be a part of that medieval period in which they are so well versed. They tell you, apologetically, that only on three of their four sides do the walls follow the exact lines of those built by the Romans, and that they are not of earlier date than the fourteenth century.

But a stroll of two miles upon these great arms of masonry, which have encircled the city for seven hundred years, should satisfy the most exacting antiquarian.

As one traverses this now peaceful promenade, frequent reminders of a turbulent past are encountered. The most impressive of these—perhaps because the most tangible—is the Phoenix, or King Charles tower, bearing an inscription recording that from this tower King Charles I, in 1645, viewed the battle of Rowton Moor, and a local chronicler relates how the king "witnessed with growing mortification and despair the defeat of his army and the overthrow of his last field force."

Besides the King Charles tower, others bordering the parapet of the old walls are the Bonwaldesthorpe and the water tower; then there are those known as Morgan's Mount and Pemberton's Parlor.

Historic Watch Towers.

During all the assaults made upon Chester these and other watch towers, long since dismantled, were vantage points for the guardians of the old city, who, when scanning the valley of the Dee and the mountain passes of nearby Wales, gave little heed, we can believe, to the beauty of the panorama spread out before them, which today claims the attention and delight of every beholder.

Bonwaldesthorpe, clothed with vines and reached by the greenery of swaying tree tops, is by far the most picturesque of towers.

Chester Castle is rather disappointing, but much as one wants a castle to be up to the mark, everything else in Chester is so satisfying that this one "fly in the ointment" should be overlooked.

The only remaining relic of the Norman period, during which time the castle was built, is the Julius Caesar tower, a square keep, which, having been incased in red sandstone, has now an adequate appearance of age.

Chester Cathedral, like many others in England, is interesting, both in itself and for its history. Since the time of the Roman deva the ground upon which it stands has been occupied by a Christian church.

Hugh Lupas, with the aid of Norman monks, established here a Benedictine monastery—one of those early centers, not alone of religion, but of learning, also.

In 1541, after the dissolution of the monasteries by Henry VIII, the abbey church became the Cathedral of Chester, and remains of Norman construction, dating back to 1093, are incorporated in the cathedral, but most of it dates from the twelfth to the sixteenth century. Since 1819 restorations have been made at intervals, as is the custom in practically all European cathedrals.

"The Chester Imp."

In monastic times the abbey was rich and of much importance. The "Chester mysteries," or miracle plays, were performed each year before its gates, when a fair was held on the feast of St. Werbergh, the patron saint of Chester. A curious custom prevailing among builders in the middle ages was that of carving grotesque figures—not only on the exteriors of churches, like gargoyles, but often on their interiors. Perched coyly in a corner high up on the cathedral, is such a joke, known as "The Chester Imp."

A reminder of more recent days is found in two flags draped on the wall of the south aisle of the cathedral which were carried by the British at the battle of Bunker Hill; not far from these are displayed the colors of the Chester Guards, borne at Quebec.

A wonderful work of restoration to be seen in Chester is that in the Church of St. John. This was a cathedral church and dates from the late eleventh century. It was occupied by a Norman bishop in 1073, but in a few years he removed the seat of his bishopric to Coventry. The church as restored today—a gem of Norman architecture—includes only sections of the nave and transepts that belonged to the original structure. Standing apart from it are the picturesque ruins of the ancient choir.

SUNDAY DAY OF MERRIMENT

Practically Only Break in the Otherwise Uneventful Lives of Filipino Men and Women.

It is the women of Manila who market the produce there. Early every morning long lines of these farmer wives, with great cigars in their mouths, and large baskets of wares on their heads, can be seen striding along the narrow trails toward the capital city, where market is held.

Strong and happy, they wade through the streams and the mud, calling out to one another as they go, and only stopping to get a fresh light for their cigars from some one of their number or some one whom they chance to meet. Once at market they chat, smoke, laugh and barter for hours over a few small tomatoes, some green squash, a live chicken, eggs, fruit, sugar or anything they happen to have, and toward noon they straggle home, having had a good visit and sold or exchanged their wares.

Sunday is the only really strenuous day for the Filipinos. It is the big market day when people come from all the surrounding country, and it is the time when cockfights are allowed. Men spend a good share of their time during the week in training their pet roosters, and on Sunday, early and late, they can be seen going to and from the pit, carrying their gamecocks under their arms.

Excitement runs high and their joyous shouts can be heard for a long way. Some women can attend the fights, but most of them do the double duty of attending mass and then patronizing the market, which is just across the street from the church. All day Sunday they are active and excitable, but the next day they settle back into their quiet, uneventful lives. —Chicago Daily News.

Diamond Facts That Should Not Be Sidestepped

By Albert S. Samuels

This is the story told me the other day by one of our San Francisco wholesale diamond importers. He said: "Looking over my orders since 1916 I find that in former years 70 per cent of the diamonds bought of us by merchants up and down the Coast were 'perfect' goods. This year the situation is the exact reverse, 90 per cent of our orders being for 'imperfect' goods. Continuing, he told us many interesting things about the change in front on the part of certain dealers. It seems that the advance in prices which has been going on for years has reached a point where the average dealer finds it difficult to sell 'perfect' diamonds at the prices he is forced to ask. So in order to keep business coming he has begun to show more and more 'imperfect' diamonds.

In a way these merchants have our admiration, for we recognize as they do, that the public demand for "perfect" diamonds is unreasonable. In the first place, the matter of "perfection," which appears to be the only quality the layman considers, is neither as important as the element of brilliancy or the element of color. Secondly, there is no such thing as an absolutely "perfect" or flawless diamond. Diamond merchants generally grade a stone as "perfect" when no flaw is apparent by the use of a magnifying glass or watchmaker's loupe. But probably every diamond, if seen under a microscope, would betray some slight evidence of imperfect crystallization. More properly these diamonds are termed "loupe perfect."

After all, why should there be such insistence upon "perfect" diamonds? A white spot the size of the POINT of a pin renders a diamond "imperfect," but what actual difference does it make? It cannot be seen by any one but an expert, and then not without the aid of a glass. Nor does it mar the beauty or the brilliancy, if the stone is properly cut. The highest-priced diamonds we have ever sold—diamonds flaming with brilliancy and of marvelous color—have had some infinitesimal imperfection and have been sold with that understanding on the part of the purchaser.

At this store we have not lowered our standard as prices have risen. We are informed that several other San Francisco jewelers have also maintained theirs. Indeed, we are told that one of our competitors, if we may be so bold, not only shows a goodly collection of flawless diamonds, but will not even look at any other kind when they are offered him. But this is contrary to the tendency and many stores are showing cheaper grades. At this store we have always been exceedingly exacting, holding rigidly to our insistence upon fine color, scientific cutting for brilliancy and freedom from flaws.

Those who are able to afford them may find flawless diamonds here. Others in our collection, equally fine in color and cutting are not loupe perfect, but contain no imperfections visible to the eye. We consider them exceedingly fine diamonds—the kind people should buy and wear. Please do not give us the worst of it in your contemplation of these facts. An admission on our part that we show diamonds that are not perfect does not mean that ours are inferior. It merely means that when you buy a diamond here it will be represented exactly as it is. There are many degrees of imperfection in diamonds and the way is open for misrepresentation. Your safety lies in choosing the store that you believe will give you the exact facts.

Y. M. C. A. PLANS UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENT FOR WED.

Something new in the way of an entertainment is planned at the Y. M. C. A. for next Wednesday night. It will be given by Charles W. Hamley, world's greatest memory expert. Mr. Hamley will show the people of South San Francisco how they may cultivate their memories so that letter will get mailed or that loaf of bread or pound of steak be brought home in the evening without a string being tied around the finger. It is said that the entertainment Mr. Hamley gives is interesting in the extreme. Mr. Hamley, or Sergeant Hamley as he became famous during the war, declares that remembering a thing is merely a matter of photographing it upon the mind, and gives a demonstration of his theory that is wonderful. As always at the Y. M. C. A., this entertainment is free and everybody is invited to be present.
